

Dr Maria Kontochristou

Assistant Professor HOU

Module Coordinator: DPM50 – The Dimensions of Cultural Phenomena

Contact details

Email: mkontochristou@eap.gr

Dr. Maria Kontochristou is an Assistant Professor in International Policy and Culture. She graduated from the Department of Political Science and Public Administration, National and Kapodistrian University of Athens. She was awarded a scholarship from the Greek State Scholarships Foundation, in order to pursue her post-graduate studies, in the UK. She received her MA in «European Cultural Policy and Management», from Warwick University and her PhD in «European Studies», from the London School of Economics and Political Science (LSE), University of London. She has taught, for many years, at the Cultural Organizations Management Programme of the Hellenic Open University and has a long professional experience in the cultural sector. She has collaborated with national and international research institutes and has written extensively on the area of her expertise. Her current research interests involve: contemporary issues of cultural policy & culture, international relations and culture, cultural diplomacy, national, European and international cultural policy, media and identity construction, European identity, comparative cultural policy, cultural policy making and management. She is the editor of the books «International making and culture. Challenges and policies» (I. Sideris Publications, 2018) & «Identity and the media in contemporary Greece» (Papazisis Publications, 2007).