

Manolis Koumas

Assistant Professor/History of International Relations/University of Athens

Email to: ekoumas@arch.uoa.gr

He is Assistant Professor in History of International Relations (19th-20th century) at the University of Athens. He holds an MA in Modern and Contemporary Greek History from the University of Athens, an MSc in History of International Relations from the London School of Economics, and a PhD from the University of Athens. He has presented papers in numerous academic conferences, and he has published papers in academic journals and contributed volumes. He is also the author of five books. His research interests include Greek foreign policy, Greek perceptions of the international system, and international relations with emphasis on global security issues.

Selected Publications

1. Greek Foreign Policy and the Greek Foreign Policy and the Problem of Security in South-eastern Europe, 1933-1936, Athens: I. Sideris, 2010.
2. Small States, Collective Security, League of Nations: Greece and the Disarmament Problem, 1919-1934, Nicosia: University of Cyprus Press, 2012.
3. Georgios Kafantaris, 1873-1946, Athens: The Hellenic Parliament Foundation for Parliamentarism and Democracy, 2012.
4. Decade of Wars: Greek Diplomacy Dilemmas, 1940-1949, Athens: Papadopoulos, 2022.
5. 1936: Metaxas' Rise to Power, Athens: Metaixmio, 2022.