Name and Last name
Georgios Steiris
Academic title/subject module/Institution
Professor/ Medieval and Renaissance Philosophy/ National and Kapodistrian University of Athens
Email to: ……

Georgios Steiris is Professor of Medieval and Renaissance Philosophy at the Department of Philosophy of the National and Kapodistrian University of Athens. He previously taught at the University of Peloponnese, the Hellenic Open University, and in Study Abroad Programs of the University of Connecticut and Boston University. He has been Visiting Professor at Jyväskylä University (Finland) and Visiting Fellow at Bogazici University (Turkey) and Macquarie University (Australia). He has served as Secretary-General of the Greek Philosophical Society (2015– 2016). He was awarded the Golden Jubilee Medal '80 years of Al- Farabi Kazakh National University'.

Selected Publications

1. Maximus the Confessor as a European Philosopher (Wipf & Stock, 2017),
2. The Oxford Handbook for Dionysius the Areopagite (Oxford University Press, 2022),
3. Long Platonism: The Routes of Plato's Reception to the Italian Renaissance (Berlin/New York: De Gruyter, 2025, forthcoming).